I'm a newbie (Jan 2007) and have limited ability to help out. Unfortunately the HOA won't let me park my own GMC at the house, let alone someone else's. I can, however, provide excellent directions to Alex Sirum. I seem to know the way by heart. Home 561-368-7417 Cell 561-504-5716 Email jtknezek@hotmail.com

Lower AL wiregrass area... Ft. Rucker/Dothan/Enterprise/Ozark etc. Willing to help broke-down GMCer's any way I can. I'm in the Army so sometimes my time is limited. Have small shop, jack, tools, large backyard with water/elec where we can park the rig and work on it. I am new to GMC's, but I'm a pretty good wrench, familiar with the Olds V8 engines and can help with other mechanical problems. I know some good honest pro mechanics around here if necessary, but we'll try and fix it ourselves first! Home 334-598-1094 Email

I have a 75 GMC Avion on which I'm doing quite a bit of work prior to first voyage under my ownership. I can provide some limited direct help to other owners (mainly limited by lack of space, lack of time, 20-month old daughter, etc.). However, we have 50 amp plug-in, sewer dump, some tools (none of the specialized tools yet, but I'm sure that will change), walking distance to great restaurants, library, shopping, etc. in Old Town Scottsdale. Also have a few recommendations for local mechanics, tire shops, etc., who've done work for me. Have a place in Payson with much more space and a plug in, but no sewer dump yet, fewer tools, and fewer connections for mechanical service, etc. Home 480.967.3289 Email john@ReactionResearch.com

Our housing development disallows RV's in our driveway, but there are a couple of RV parks (reasonable) close or in town. There is a mechanic in town who is honest (though not knowledgeable about GMC's) and Alex SImum is a bit over an hour's drive for ANYTHING of major consequence. We can help with a few things, but at least we can give you a friendly voice in the wilderness. a cup of coffee and some direction to people who won't rip you off. We are located about 10 miles off of I95 near Ft Brag NC. We will try to help with any problem. If I can not help we will find someone who can. I have assorted automotive tools including compressor, bead blast cabinet, floor jacks, jack stands. I don't have any GMC specific tools. (there are some other in the area that do) I can squeeze one more GMC onto the driveway. We don't have a lot of room, but have gallons of hand cleaner and lots of rags. We both work full time, so please leave a message or try the cell phone #. I have automotive experience and some GMC experience. WYOMING

John Beal, 1121 Hazelwood Dr, Casper, WY 82609

Recently purchased this unit. Much upgrades have been performed, however still a lot to be done. Most recently changed the leaking power steering pressure hose, which was captured by the Honda Generator battery box, which I believe, may have been the original GMC compressor stand. The local "Hose and rubber" shop made the necessary hose connectors to the original tube (as per Jim Bounds suggestion), using tube fittings on the hose ends, allowing much flexibility. We just received the cab window screens and seat belts, and am waiting for the steering shaft boots from Co-op to complete the spring renovation cycle.
